INTRODUCTION

The process of information exchange, development of science and technology, which is happening all over the world, is inextricably linked with the development of a healthy lifestyle in independent Uzbekistan, and is of particular importance in raising a healthy and well-rounded generation. It is difficult to know the changes in the consciousness and thinking of young people without humanizing this environment and conditions, without studying the physical and spiritual needs of young people. A person's thinking is formed by his way of life and the common desire to live.

In fact, since the first days of our independence, our motherland, Uzbekistan, has had the highest goal of supporting young people and creating sufficient conditions for them. In this regard, it is appropriate to remember the efforts of our First President. In particular, the decision PQ-805 of the First President of the Republic of Uzbekistan on February 29, 2008 "On the State Program of the Year of Youth" emphasized the importance of training young people to become mature specialists and competitive staff in the future. Within the framework of this program, great work has been done to improve the legal framework aimed at more fully ensuring the rights and interests of young people, improve their education, radically increase the quality of the personnel training system, and create a healthy lifestyle for young people.

The First President of the Republic of Uzbekistan, Islam Karimov, in his speech at the meeting dedicated to approving the healthy generation program (February 24, 2000), noted that during the years of independence, the children of Uzbekistan are changing in accordance with the times, worthy of our country and people. We are entering the 21st century. To the question of which country will be powerful and which nation will be strong in this century, the First President answered "...a country whose population is intellectually mature, whose youth is educated, honorable, and patriotic." Because at the core of all socio-political, economic and spiritual reforms of independent Uzbekistan lies the task of educating a perfect person. From the 21st century, the development of humanity will be in the hands of intellectual development and intellectual generation. "In the new millennium, the fate of states and peoples will be decided not by material wealth, but by intellectual, that is, spiritual and educational wealth."

It was impossible to build a free, free and healthy way of life without deeply instilling such socio-spiritual and moral duties and responsibilities into the minds of young people. Because, in order for each young generation to live in a social system with a bright future, it is necessary to first understand it ideologically, ideologically and aesthetically, educate its thinking in this spirit, and take a step on the path of spiritual growth.

After gaining independence, the main task facing our country was to join the ranks of developed countries. This could not be achieved without physically, spiritually, morally healthy and free generations. This kind of spiritual freedom also required that it be perfected in terms of its essence. The modern youth of our independent country are inheritors of great spirituality and traditions of oriental perfection. In them, the formation and development of a healthy lifestyle based on the ideas of independence is of great importance in the concept of a perfect person.

It is known that more than half of the population of our republic is made up of young people. At this point, it is necessary to acknowledge that great work is being done in our republic so that every young man and woman can take a proper place in the society and show their potential. In particular, Youth Parliaments and Youth Affairs Agency are operating in Uzbekistan. The Samarkand Web Forum on Human Rights, held on August 12-13, 2020, dedicated to the current issues of youth rights promotion, is extremely important as it aims to emphasize the importance of global cooperation to improve the lives of not only our country and region, but also the youth of the entire planet.

The Samarkand resolution entitled "Youth-2020: global solidarity, sustainable development and human rights" was adopted at the international conference. In the document, among other things, it was noted that the rights of young people are rights that everyone needs to use, but some of them are deprived of such an opportunity due to their young age. In 2020, the Samarkand resolution was presented as an official document of the 74th session of the UN General Assembly. It is no coincidence that it was also distributed as an official document of the OSCE Permanent Council and the Organization of Islamic Cooperation. Because the Samarkand resolution serves to comprehensively confirm the necessity of involving young people in all processes related to the development of modern countries.

According to the idea of the head of our country Sh.M. Mirziyoyev, who stated that our youth is capable of serving the development of the country and realizing the "Uzbekistan-2035" strategy, this programmatic document defined the tasks for Uzbekistan to reach the ambitious goal of entering the ranks of the most advanced countries in the world. "As a first step, great attention is being paid to increasing exports and investments. I can boldly say that today we are on the threshold of the "Uzbek miracle". This is not only a dream, but a reality-axiom that does not require proof.

A miracle is such a discovery-reality that its appearance in space and time affects the development of society, and even transforms it into a new self, it is a force capable of making revolutionary changes. Deep reforms being carried out in Uzbekistan are assessed by international experts as "a severe miracle". Independence was the eternal dream of the Uzbek people - it was achieved: this is the first, but the main miracle!

In fact, the demanding and innovative, shrewd and clever Shavkat Mirziyoev started very original and far-sighted historical-legal processes on September 8, 2016, such a promising and strategic phenomenon - the Uzbek miracle, "We will continue our path of national development to a new level." . From September 2016 to the present day of 2022, dozens and hundreds of innovative projects were implemented and investments were made, these are the products of the initiatives introduced by the President of Uzbekistan.

Necessary conditions are being created in our country for ensuring the rights and interests of young people, for their education, work, and the realization of their knowledge and abilities. The declaration of 2021 as the "Year of Youth Support and Public Health Promotion" in our country is another practical expression of this.

"It is known that young people tend to think in a new way, boldly come up with new ideas and implement them, solve problems based on creative and non-standard approaches. Therefore, at present, we give priority to the creation of all conditions for representatives of the younger generation to acquire knowledge, to reveal their talents and potential in the fields of science, innovation, literature, art and sports, and for their active participation in the social and political life of our society," said the honorable President Sh.M. Mirziyoev in his interview to the editor-in-chief of "New Uzbekistan" newspaper. Continuing his remarks, the head of state emphasizes that we have started great work in this direction.

The number of universities in our country for the purpose of training competitive personnel with high knowledge and qualifications has increased to 141, branches of 26 foreign higher education institutions have been opened. However, in 2016, the number of universities in our republic was 77. In the next five years, the admission quota for higher education was increased 3 times, and this year 182,000 young people had the opportunity to become a student. This means that the total coverage reached 28 percent. For comparison, 4 years ago this figure was only 9 percent.

Within the framework of the "Five Important Initiatives" program and "Berkamol Avlod" centers, 36,000 additional clubs were organized this year, and about 874,000 children were involved in them. Also, about 100,000 art and sports inventories, computers, and about 600,000 books were delivered to educational institutions, libraries and educational centers.

Today, the implementation of ideas and initiatives of young people in the field of entrepreneurship, providing them with a source of work and income is given great importance at the state level. Thanks to such attention, the number of entrepreneurs under the age of 30 has increased fivefold and exceeded 500,000 in the last four years, playing an important role in the development of this industry. This year alone, preferential loans of 2 trillion 300 billion soums have been allocated for business projects of more than 92 thousand young people, which will serve to further expand the ranks of such young people. We can cite many such facts and figures from our daily social and domestic life.

In short, Uzbekistan has proved that it is following the absolutely correct, and at the same time, renewing strategic path in almost five years. Honorable President Shavkat Mirziyoyev expressed high confidence in the youth in particular: "Our youth are the main force that will play a decisive role in raising the great work we have started on building a new Uzbekistan to a new level," he encouraged thousands of sons and daughters of our country to do great things. The head of our state often uses the words of justice, sacrifice and education in his speeches addressed to the youth. It's not for nothing, of course. The future of our country largely depends on these factors. President's speech: "Our main goal is to build a new Uzbekistan. But we understand very well that it cannot be built without the youth", there is no doubt that the youth will once again be more concerned about the future and destiny of this country.
